

Community Impact Report

Leading by giving: How Minnesota's largest businesses make major impacts

$2.2 billion

reported annually in charitable giving and community benefit by Minnesota Business Partnership companies

337,000

volunteer hours worth $13 million in donated time

$1.58 million

in community benefit by MBP healthcare members towards uncompensated health care

Minnesota Business Partnership (MBP) member companies do more than power our state's economy, they put corporate citizenship into action to strengthen the communities they serve. Employing 1 in 6 Minnesotans, MBP companies bring an unwavering commitment to regional vitality, donating millions and dedicating thousands of volunteer hours each year. This giving spans every region and sector across Minnesota: expanding local healthcare access, funding safety nets for children and families, providing dignity and support for seniors, and seeding economic development in rural towns. By pairing business innovation with hands-on service, MBP leaders ensure that every community, neighborhood, and family prospers. MBP companies make an impact at home and around the world every year.

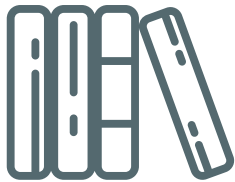

Data based on a survey of a third of MBP member companies.

About the Minnesota Business Partnership

The Minnesota Business Partnership is a nonpartisan organization of CEOs and senior leaders from Minnesota's largest employers. Member companies collectively employ one in six Minnesotans and are significant contributors to Minnesota's economy and communities. The Partnership works with business leaders and policymakers to strengthen Minnesota's competitiveness and ensure the state remains a place where people and businesses can grow and succeed.
